

First Deputy Prime Minister and Minister of Foreign Affairs of the Republic of Serbia Ivica Dacic received today a farewell call from Ambassador of the Kingdom of Norway to Serbia Nils Ragnar Kamsvåg who completed his five-year tenure in the Republic of Serbia.

During the meeting both sides concurred that relations between Serbia and Norway were stable and characterized by a dynamic political dialogue. Ambassador Kamsvåg commended the results that Serbia, despite the challenges, achieved in terms of improving relations in the region.

Minister Dacic expressed his gratitude for the continued support of the Kingdom of Norway to the reforms, modernization and European path of the Republic of Serbia, through donations and projects that helped strengthen the rule of law, institutions and economic reconstruction of Serbian society. The Serbian Foreign Minister wished Ambassador Kamsvåg every success in his future engagement.
