

St. Rastislav's Church, the first Christian Orthodox temple in the Slovak capital Bratislava, was consecrated on 12 May 2013. So far, services have been performed at St. Nicholas's Church, which was built as a Roman Catholic basilica.

The temple was consecrated by the Archbishop of Presovo and Slovakia Rastislav. The church consecration ceremony was attended by many guests, including the Ambassadors of Russia, Greece, Cyprus, Bulgaria as well as by the Serbian Ambassador to Slovakia Radmila Hrustanovic.