

Belgrade writer Katarina Brajovic, author of the novel "Printer and Veronika", which ranked high among the works competing for this year's "NIN" award, visited Niksic and Podgorica, on 24 May 2013, in the organization of the Embassy of the Republic of Serbia, Matica Srpska – association of members from Montenegro and the study programme for Serbian language and south Slav literature.

Katarina Brajovic's novel was received very well by the readers and drew much media attention in Montenegro, both because of excellent reviews and the fact that the theme of her novel relates also to Montenegro.