

State Secretary of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs of the Republic of Serbia Nemanja Stevanovic participated in the Summit of the the Central European Initiative (CEI), on 3-4 December in Zagreb, alongside five Prime Ministers of the participating countries.

The theme of the Summit was "Building Security, Boosting Economy, Enabling Prosperity" and participants exchanged views on the current regional developments, particularly concerning the maintenance of stability and security in the context of migration.

Addressing the event, State Secretary Stevanovic focused in particular on the discriminatory measures imposed by Pristina on the import of goods made in the Republic of Serbia, and called once again on the participants to voice their concerns over the continuation of such policy by Pristina and the violation of international law and agreements.
