

First Deputy Prime Minister and Minister of Foreign Affairs of the Republic of Serbia Ivica Dacic called on the Croatian politicians, together with Serbian leaders, to ease tensions over the release of Vojislav Seselj by the ICTY in The Hague, and not to incite them.

Minister Dacic said today that Serbia did not dictate the conditions under which leader of the Serbian Radical Party (SRS) Vojislav Seselj was to be released from ICTY detention.

“The Government of Serbia, on the grounds of compassion and human rights, gave guarantees for Seselj. When it comes to politics, Vojislav Seselj is not a factor that our government has to take a position on”, said the Serbian Foreign Minister.
