

Serbian choir Viva Vox gave a performance at the Chinese National People's Congress (Parliament), on 8th November.

Apart from the representatives of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs and the Ministry of Culture of the People's Republic of China, the concert was attended by representatives of China's other governmental departments, and by representatives of the Embassy of the Republic of Serbia to China.

Among several songs performed in the Chinese language, Bella Ciao, a soundtrack for the film Most (The Bridge), one of the most popular Yugoslavian films in China, was performed as well.