

On 21 September, an exhibition by the Museum of Vojvodina titled "Over the Woods and Valleys – Three Centuries of Vojvodina Slovaks", dedicated to presenting the identity features of Vojvodina Slovaks, was launched at the Ethnographic Museum of the Slovak National Museum in the historic town of Martin, under the sponsorship of the Serbian Embassy in Slovakia. The exhibition, inaugurated by Serbian Ambassador Sani Dermaku, will be open in Martin till 15 December, to be moved afterwards to the Slovak National Museum in Bratislava.

The visitors have an opportunity to get acquainted with both historical and ethnographic content as well as with the Slovak naïve art from Kovacica. Martin's sing and dance company Turiec also took part in the exhibition's opening.
