- Former MFA V. Jeremic and the then MFA F. Stolfi had a bilateral meeting in the margins of the UN General Assembly session, in September 2007.

Economic relations:

In the first ten months of 2017, the total trade exchange with San Marino was worth cca 114,000 euros, of which our export to San Marino was worth cca 13,000 euros, and the import was worth cca 101,000 euros.

During 2015, there were no exports to San Marino, while imports to Serbia stood at EUR 264 thousand.

The existing trade cooperation is very low in intensity. In the first ten months of 2013, exports amounted to $ 34 000 (78.9% increase compared to 2012), while imports amounted to $ 67 000 (3% drop compared to 2012). The volume of trade in goods was $ 101 000, and import-export ratio was 51%. Possibilities for the enhancement of cooperation between the two countries exist primarily in the areas of tourism, agriculture, machining and textile industry, as well as investments into free trade areas.
