

On the occasion of Saint Sava's Day, a traditional celebration which gathered a large number of citizens of the Republic of Serbia was held in the German province of Hessen. Children attending supplementary school classes in the Serbian language staged a performance about Saint Sava's life and work.

The central celebration with a rich artistic programme was held at the new church in Frankfurt, where the Vasilije Ostroski church choir, pianist Radoslava Vorgic, and the children attending classes in the Serbian language gave their performances.

The ceremony was attended by a large number of representatives from the Diaspora and Serbian clubs from Frankfurt.
