

Kibera: Serbian Embassy initiated clean-up of slums

Wednesday, 23 January 2019.

At the initiative launched by Serbian Ambassador Dragan Zupanjevac, cleaning-up of Kibera, the largest slums in Eastern Africa, began on 23 January. Together with UN Habitat, the UN agency in charge of solid waste management, and several ambassadors to the UN, local politicians and the media, attended the Kibera cleaning operation.

The young activists who took part in the removal of waste wore T-shirts with UN symbols and the flag of Serbia. UN-Habitat Executive Director Maimunah Mohd Sharif said this was the start of a serious programme of cooperation between the UN and the slums in Kenya, thanking the Serbian Ambassador for his initiative.

On 23 January 2019, the Serbian Embassy in Nairobi initiated a clean-up of slums in Kibera, Kenya. The initiative was organized in partnership with UNOHABITAT FOR A BETTER URBAN ENVIRONMENT and in conjunction with the Serbian Embassy. The banner also mentions "usafi wa mazingira".
