

Ambassador Vladimir Maric handed to Tara Gandhi Bhattacharjee, a granddaughter of famous Indian leader Mahatma Gandhi, a copy of her book "Reflections of an Extraordinary Era", translated in Serbian.

The book was translated and published in our country at the initiative of Ivica Dacic who met Gandhi Bhattacharjee during his visit to India in May last year. Ambassador Maric invited Gandhi Bhattacharjee to come to Serbia and promote her book.

She expressed gratitude and satisfaction that her book was published in Serbian and that the project had been completed so quickly. She expressed her hope that the book would help present Mahatma Gandhi to the Serbian public in a new light and enable that the friendly relations between the two countries and peoples be additionally deepened.

Book "Reflections of an Extraordinary Era" is an account of Gandhi Bhattacharjee's memories and the time she spent with her grandfather.
