

On 24 November in Dietikon, the children's play "Branko's Rumpus" was performed in cooperation with the Holy Trinity Church in Zurich and the Embassy of the Republic of Serbia on the occasion of marking 50 years of the presence of the Serbian Orthodox Church in Switzerland.

The children had an opportunity to hang out with the renowned actor of TV shows for children, Branko Milicevic, better known as Branko Kockica.

Archpriest of the Serbian Orthodox Church in Zurich Branimir Petkovic, Priest Djordje Lukic and Cultural Attaché of the Embassy of the Republic of Serbia Natalija Gunjic addressed the children and their parents. The Cultural Attaché expressed her gratitude to the organizers and actors of the small theater 'Puz' (Snail) for the play which brought together a lot of children and encouraged them to connect with their motherland, Serbian language and culture in a fun atmosphere filled with songs.
