

The jersey of the Serbian national football team will be among the exhibits at the opening of the "Football for Peace" exhibition, together with the jerseys of all national football teams in the world. The jersey was presented to the organizers of the exhibition, Executive President of the Diplomatic Academy Santiago Velo de Antelo, professor of "CEU San Pablo" José Luis Orella Martínez and Spanish "La Liga" representative Marta Díaz, by the Serbian Ambassador Katarina Smajevic. Depending on the epidemiological situation, it is expected that "Football for Peace" exhibition could take place in the spring next year. The organizers informed that the plan is to turn the exhibition into a permanent museum showcasing jerseys of all football teams from across the globe.

On its Twitter account, Diplomacia España, the Diplomatic Academy thanked Ambassador Smajevic by tweeting: "We continue to advance in projects of common interest".
