

In the margins of the 129th Ministerial Session of the Council of Europe, State Secretary Nemanja Stevanovic has met with the Minister of State for Trade, Employment, Business, EU Digital Single Market and Data Protection of the Republic of Ireland Pat Breen as well as with the Deputy Ministers of Foreign Affairs of Hungary, Levent Mayar and of the Republic of Azerbaijan Mahmoud Mamad Guli.

In the talks with Minister Pat Breen, both sides expressed satisfaction at the excellent relations between Serbia and Ireland and discussed concrete possibilities for further development of the economic cooperation between the two countries, especially in the field of information technologies.

At the meeting with his Hungarian counterpart, the two collocutors noted that the relations between the two countries were better than ever before and emphasized the importance of economic cooperation as well as the successfully implemented and planned investments, expressing satisfaction with the position of national minorities in the two countries.

In a conversation with Mahmoud Mamad-Guli, the two sides concluded that the political relations between the two countries were excellent and discussed concrete possibilities to further develop economic cooperation which was also boosted by the work of the Intergovernmental Commission for Trade and Economic Cooperation apart from the regular top-level political dialogue conducted between the two countries.

{joomplucat:1653 limit=3|columns=3}