

"Unfortunately, the verdict in Oliver Ivanovic case is yet another evidence of politics prevailing both over law and justice in the world.

The verdict reached at a time when Albanians make continuation of the dialogue conditional and when Serbia will go to the polls, acts as a tail wind to extremists on both sides and in no way helps the stabilization process in the Balkan region.

Those behind this verdict are certainly no promoters of peace and stability".